

Company description:

Our company specializes in large recruiting and training African men and women, youth and women to maximise integration into the community. We have over five year's industry experience in projects of this kind. We have now teamed up with African Think Tank (ATT) and Africause in recognition of the need in the cohort they serve.

As a commercial entity, we also have a commitment to corporate responsibility. At the moment migrant men and Women are in a quandary, having arrived under the refugee "Women at Risk Program" (women with children who have lost their partners), as their children get older, they wish to contribute and participate in the labour market. Security work seems most appropriate. We train them on the industry expectations.

We consider HSS security work as subcontractors to be safe environment for women who have had reason to mistrust the world, we are confident that such a program would be of mutual benefit. Good for the men and Women and a positive value for your safety.
